

Lex Mundi launches updated global climate change law guide for in-house counsel

published 11/18/2021

Lex Mundi has updated its comparative and interactive guide on climate change legal regimes from over 35 jurisdictions around the world. The release coincides with COP26 – the Climate Change Summit which took place in Glasgow, Scotland this month. TDS is the exclusive Lex Mundi member firm for Manitoba, Canada, and the only Lex Mundi member firm with offices in Saskatchewan, Canada.

The global climate change law guide, originally released in February 2020, examines current policies, measures and legislation relating to climate change laws. The guide aims to be a user-friendly tool for in-house counsel and external advisers to comprehend, compare and contrast climate change-related laws across different jurisdictions and markets, and for international businesses operating across borders to ensure compliance with local regimes.

View the interactive guide on the Lex Mundi website.

---

DISCLAIMER: This article is presented for informational purposes only. The content does not constitute legal advice or solicitation and does not create a solicitor client relationship. The views expressed are solely the authors' and should not be attributed to any other party, including Thompson Dorfman Sweatman LLP (TDS), its affiliate companies or its clients. The authors make no guarantees regarding the accuracy or adequacy of the information contained herein or linked to via this article. The authors are not able to provide free legal advice. If you are seeking advice on specific matters, please contact Keith LaBossiere, CEO & Managing Partner at kdl@tdslaw.com, or 204.934.2587. Please be aware that any unsolicited information sent to the author(s) cannot be considered to be solicitor-client privileged.

While care is taken to ensure the accuracy for the purposes stated, before relying upon these articles, you should seek and be guided by legal advice based on your specific circumstances. We would be pleased to provide you with our assistance on any of the issues raised in these articles.